

Seth Andrew Harden

56 Reynolds Dr. Jackson, TN, 38305

(731)-697-3848

saharden@memphis.edu

EDUCATION

M.A., History, University of Memphis (In Progress- Anticipated Grad. Date: August 2019)

B.A., History, University of Memphis, 2015

A.S., General Studies, Jackson State Community College, 2013

PUBLICATIONS

Harden, Seth. "A New Found Golgotha": Puritan Perspectives on Violence in Native American New England, 1636-1704." Quaesitum 3.1 (2016): 1-24.

Harden, Seth. "Disease." Shaping North America: From Exploration to the American Revolution. Ed. James E. Seelye, Shawn Selby, and Christin Eisel. ABC-CLIO, forthcoming, fall 2018.

PRESENTATIONS

"A New Found Golgotha': Tracing European Violence in the Native American World," portions presented Phi Alpha Theta Regional Conference, April 2016.

----- also presented at National Conference on Undergraduate Research, April 2016

"Goon a-blakeberried': Vernacular Theology and the Afterlife in Chaucer's the Pardoner's Tale," presented at Midwest Medieval History Conference, Middle Tennessee State University, 2016.

"To Prove a Villain: Spectacles of Violence in Richard III and Sixteenth-Century England," with Dr. Joshua Phillips, presented at National Conference on Undergraduate Research, 2015

"Pinson Mounds and Associated Earth Works," with Dr. Ryan Parish, University of Memphis Student Research Forum, 2014.

"Was it Shakespeare"? with Professor Billie Gateley, JSCC Honors Forum, 2013.

“Pilgrimage: From Ancient to Medieval” with Professor Billie Gateley, JSCC Honors Forum, 2012.

HONORS AND AWARDS

The University of Memphis

Honors Program Graduate	August 2015
-------------------------	-------------

Undergraduate Research Scholar	August 2015
--------------------------------	-------------

Jackson State Community College

Honors Program Graduate	May 2013
-------------------------	----------

Humanities Award Recipient	May 2013
----------------------------	----------