

Maggie Walsh is a student of anthropology and Irish Studies from Princeton, New Jersey. She loves anthropology because it allows her study history, religion, language, and music all at once. She specializes in Irish culture and is currently working with the Butte-Silver Bow Archives to create an oral history collection on the Irish community in Butte. Maggie holds a bachelor's degree from the University of Notre Dame and is currently pursuing a master's degree from the University of Montana, where she is expected to graduate in May 2020.